23. November 2026

Education and culture

Free workshop: Designing textiles for the future

Workshop for children and young people as part of the 'Kulturrucksack' programme // Friday, 4 December 2026 // 3.00 pm to 5.30 pm // LWL Textile Museum, Bocholt

How does the textile industry actually work, and what might the fabrics and fashion of the future look like? The workshop "Designing Textiles for the Future" explores these questions. On 4 December, from 3 pm to 5.30 pm at the LWL Textile Museum in Bocholt, participants will take a look behind the scenes of textile history and become designers themselves.

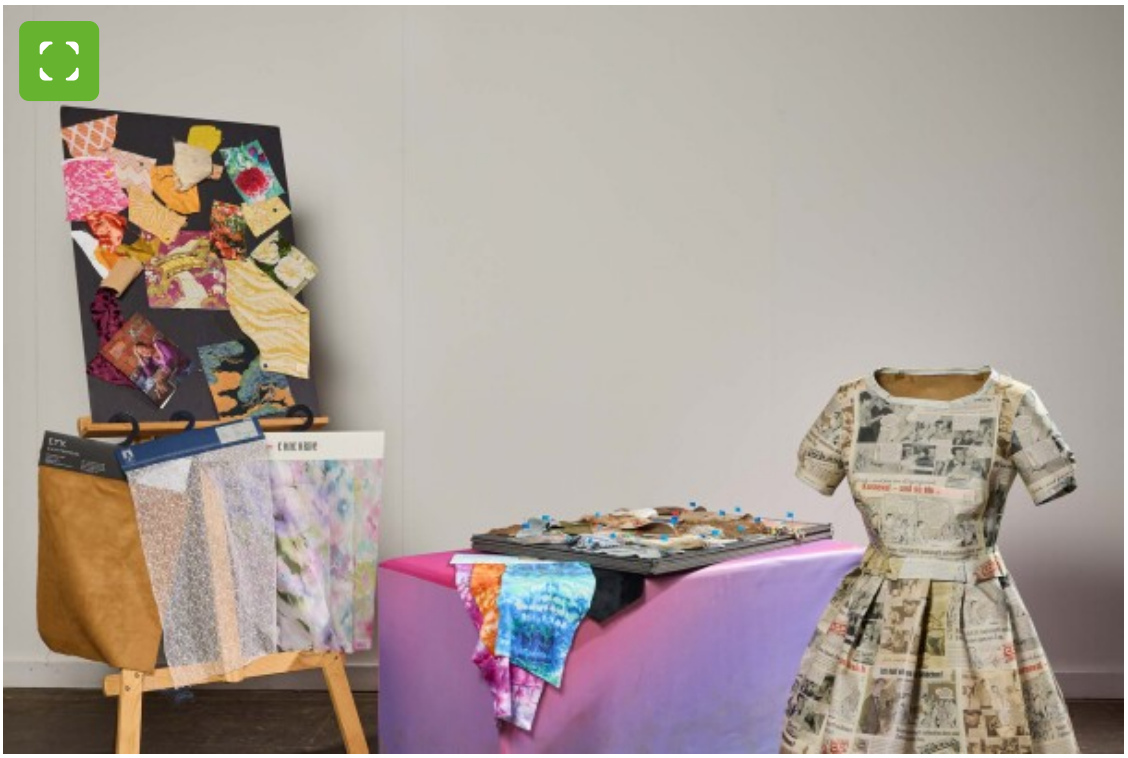
In the workshop, participants will explore how colours and materials interact and, building on this, develop their own ideas for sustainable, future-proof textiles.

The number of participants is limited to ten; the workshop is aimed at children and young people aged 10 to 14 from Bocholt. Participation is free of charge; registrations can be made by email until 2 December: textilwerk-weberei-shop(at)lwl(dot)org

The event is part of the 'Kulturrucksack NRW' programme. The programme enables children and young people to discover cultural activities, develop their own creative ideas and get involved in artistic activities themselves.

About the LWL Museum Textilwerk Bocholt

The LWL Museum Textilwerk Bocholt is a museum run by the Regional Association of Westphalia-Lippe. At its two sites - the weaving mill and the spinning mill - it brings the history of the textile industry and industrial change to life.



© LWL-Museum Textilwerk

The workshop "Designing textiles for the future" will take place on 4 December