Music School Bocholt-Isselburg

Music is the language that connects all people. At the Bocholt-Isselburg Music School, children as well as teenagers and adults learn to understand this language - and to express their own creativity in it. A wide range of different subjects and instruments are taught here, from string instruments to brass and woodwind instruments to singing.

YOUNG UNI in Bocholt

Discover, learn, research: The JUNGE UNI in Bocholt is an additional educational programme for children and young people between the ages of 6 and 18. Lectures, workshops, seminars and excursions get children and young people interested in the world of science, exploration and experience. The aim is to arouse curiosity for the so-called MINT subjects of mathematics, computer science, natural sciences and technology.

Underage participants can get their first taste of "university" and experience science up close and try it out for themselves.
