Tree maintenance and felling: Lönsstraße will be closed in sections

Tree maintenance from 30 November to 7 December // Felling of seven red oaks on 8 and 9 December

On behalf of the Bocholt Waste Management and Services Company (ESB), work on the roadside trees on Lönsstraße will begin on Monday, 30 November. Following tree maintenance, seven red oaks infested with a fungus will be felled on 8 and 9 December. The road will be closed to traffic in sections whilst this work is carried out.

Up to and including Monday 7 December, work will initially focus on maintaining the trees along the entire length of Lönsstraße between Münsterstraße and Im Osteresch. On Tuesday 8 December and Wednesday 9 December, seven red oaks will be felled. They are infested with the polypore fungus, which decomposes the wood at the base of the trunk and in the roots. As a result, the trees are gradually losing their stability and cannot be saved. To rule out any danger to local residents and road users, they must be removed. Both tasks will be carried out by a specialist firm commissioned by ESB.

The specialists will work their way along the street section by section. The section where work is currently taking place will be closed off. One side of the pavement will remain open to pedestrians throughout the works.

The city bus service is also affected. From Monday 30 November to Wednesday 2 December, as well as on Tuesday 8 December and Wednesday 9 December, it will not run via Lönsstraße. Instead, it will be diverted via Kochenheimstraße, Münsterstraße and Im Osteresch.
