Murder meets melody - Thomas Matiszik live with Todfreunde - Spiel im Schatten

When Thomas Matiszik reads from his latest thriller, it's not just exciting - it's also musical!

In his captivating readings, the author takes the audience right into the dark heart of his new case about investigator Corinna Dupont. But it doesn't stop at crackling thriller suspense: Matiszik masterfully slips into the most diverse characters, changes dialects, gives you goosebumps and makes you laugh at the same time.

He is accompanied by pianist Marius Ader, who provides the perfect soundtrack with soulful to sombre tones - live on the piano. And because murder and music are sometimes on the same side, Matiszik himself takes to the microphone: songs such as Hurt by Johnny Cash or Leaving on a Jet Plane by John Denver take on a whole new depth in this context.

A reading like a soundtrack to a thriller - dark, emotional, surprising. And with a main character who not only knows how to assert herself in the chapters, but also on stage: Corinna Dupont.
