Elsa lives with her Uncle Walter in a small, quirky cottage. Some time ago, they discovered that it was built directly on top of a cave. They are about to embark on an adventurous cave expedition when Aunt Lisa leaves her son Valentin with Walter for an indefinite period of time. Valentin is autistic. His world obeys its own rules, which are difficult for the child to understand. This upsets everything...

"Würfelbrot" tells difficult stories lightly and is funny in its profundity. Like opening a good picture book, the story unfolds in a fast-paced and touching way. At the end, the question arises: What is actually "normal"? And who decides that?

The actors are:

Meike Wiemann as Elsa,

Gabriel Schunck as Valentin

and Jörg Peter as Uncle Walter.

Text and direction: Britta Lennardt

Play length: approx. 60 minutes

Afterwards, there will be an opportunity for an open discussion in the foyer with various contacts on the subject of autism and neurodivergence.
