Angelika Brands from the Mayor's office retires

15 years in the mayor's office in Bocholt // Farewell on 20 April

For many years, Angelika Brands from the mayor's office organised and structured the mayor's tasks, most recently for Thomas Kerkhoff. Her overview, structure and much contact with citizens characterised this time.

This is what Angelika Brands is known for. She is always friendly, close to the citizens and a real organisational talent. Now, after 15 years in the mayor's office and almost 18 years with the city of Bocholt, she is retiring.

Between telephone calls, written correspondence and appointment management, Mrs Brands always kept a cool head. High standards, which she also passed on to the team. The soon to be grandmother of four is already looking forward to her retirement, which she would like to spend with travel and her family.
