Full closure of Berliner Platz on Tuesday due to further crane installation

Crane work on 24 February // Parking not possible in the entire area // Wide-ranging securing of the danger zone

The city of Bocholt would like to point out that Berliner Platz will be temporarily unusable for the duration of the upcoming crane work. In order to allow the work to proceed smoothly, parking is prohibited on the entire square. The extensive cordoning off of the danger zone around the crane site serves to protect all passers-by. The city of Bocholt asks all affected citizens and visitors to the city to be prepared for this temporary restriction and to use alternative parking options in the immediate vicinity. As soon as the heavy lifting equipment has been dismantled, the area will be reopened to traffic immediately.
