"Art, kitsch and junk at the bulky waste exchange".

Last bulky waste exchange this year // On Saturday, November 26, 10-12 a.m.

On Saturday, November 26, the waste consulting service of the waste disposal and service company invites to the last bulky waste exchange for this year. In the time from 10:00 to 12:00 o'clock then in the vehicle hall at the Schaffeldstrasse for exciting finds may be rummaged. Waste consultant Petra Tacke hopes for many visitors in a buying mood.

Collection for the bulky waste exchange

For a comprehensive offer, the recycling center employees have been on the lookout for things suitable for sale at the bulky waste exchange over the past few weeks. Other items are also gladly accepted. Children's toys, decorative items, small furniture and odds and ends are all suitable. Experience has shown that the best items to sell are the "little treasures" that can be easily transported home.

Sale for the Tafel Bocholt

The main purpose of the bulky waste exchange is the further use of things in good condition and thus sustainability. The more things can be used further, the better. The proceeds of the bulky waste exchange go to the Tafel Bocholt. Two employees of the Tafel will be present at the event to answer questions about the work of the Tafel.

Help from Bocholt associations

The action is accompanied and supported by numerous people voluntarily. Volunteers will be on hand to help the ESB with set-up and sales. Volunteers of the Tafel support the waste advisor during the set-up. The THW - Youth is active on Saturday as order personnel and helps with the clean-up after the exchange. During the bulky waste exchange, employees of the Repair Café will provide freshly baked waffles for the physical well-being.

Questions about this action will be answered by waste consultant Petra Tacke at Tel.: 24 63 24
