Gregor Meiering celebrates 25 years of service

City of Bocholt congratulates // Anniversary at the waste disposal and service company

The city of Bocholt is currently congratulating Gregor Meiering, who has been working for the waste disposal and service company (ESB) for 25 years.

After leaving school, Meiering completed an apprenticeship as a car mechanic and gained his first professional experience in his training company and in the metal trade. He finally found his way to the Bocholt city administration through an application to the ESB.

He has continuously developed within the company: starting with general tasks in the waste disposal sector, he qualified as a driver and is now responsible for emptying the recycling bins as a side loader driver. The work in the sometimes narrow streets of the city area requires great care and driving skills. In addition to his professional work at the ESB, the jubilarian also runs a farm as a sideline.

The city administration would like to thank Gregor Meiering for his many years of service and the reliable fulfilment of his duties on behalf of the citizens of Bocholt. It combines these thanks with best wishes on his anniversary.
