Two Swedish melodies by Johan Svendsen open the concert.

On Sunday, 26 November, the annual concert of the collegium musicum of the city of Bocholt will take place. It starts at 6 pm in the Christuskirche in Bocholt at Münsterstr. 19.

Two Swedish melodies by Johan Svendsen will open the concert. The main work of the concert is Symphony No. 8 in G major by Antonín Dvořák. It is known for its musical light-heartedness, cheerfulness and unbroken joie de vivre. The collegium musicum Bocholt plays under the direction of Annette Oehmen.

Tickets are available from the theatre office in the Volksbank, Meckenemstr. 10. Advance tickets cost 8 euros for adults and 4 euros for schoolchildren, apprentices and students. At the box office, tickets cost 10 euros for adults and 5 euros for schoolchildren, trainees and students. The concert is being organised in cooperation with the City of Bocholt's Department of Culture and Education.
