The moving film "Come on, Come on" by director Mike Mills will be shown next Tuesday, June 28, starting at 8 p.m. at the Bocholt Kinodrom. The film is part of the series "The special film". Admission is 6 euros. Tickets online at www.kinodrom.de or at the box office.

Content

New York radio journalist Johnny, who is single again after a long relationship, is working on a report for which he interviews young people all over the USA about their future. But after a call from his sister Viv, he unexpectedly has to take care of her son, nine-year-old Jesse.

It is the first time that Johnny really comes into contact with the subject of parenthood and has to take responsibility for a child. And for Woody, who is as bright as he is sensitive, it is the first time he has been separated from his mother for any length of time.

About the series "The Special Film"

The film series "KINO Bocholt - the special film" has been taking place since 1977. On the initiative of the Department of Culture and Education of the City of Bocholt, selected films are usually presented every 2nd and 4th Tuesday of the month in cooperation with the Kinodrom Bocholt.

The aim is to present exceptional films - which would otherwise not be shown in the cinemas of Bocholt - to an interested audience of any age.

Cinema tickets can be purchased at the box office of the Kinodrom Bocholt or online via the website www.kinodrom.de. There you can also find more information and the trailer for the film.
