Persuasion does not have to be strict. Using the power of one's own thoughts for a good conversation is profitable both professionally and privately, according to the organizers. With the correct attitude and the appropriate words the personal radiant emittance is enormously improved. Authentically and credibly presented is effective, effective and free of manipulation.

Helmut Freund Coach will inspire with his entertaining lecture and present the possibilities of "Performance Rhetoric". His credo: sovereignty, persuasiveness and self-confidence in a presentation are not random events in a presentation, but can be trained.
