RADTRENDS bicycle trade fair casts a shadow ahead

Bocholt will become a mecca for cycling fans on the weekend of 23/24 March // Remaining spaces available for exhibitors

One week to go until the big RADTRENDS bike fair takes place in Bocholt at the leisure centre on Bocholter Aasee. Exhibitors will be presenting the latest trends in cycling. The trade fair with sales takes place on Saturday (23 March) and Sunday (24 March) from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and is a must for local bike fans. Admission is free.

Trend and programme at the Aasee

Preparations for the RADTRENDS trade fair have been in full swing for weeks, as Angela Theurich, environmental officer for the city of Bocholt and organiser, reports. The bike fair is changing its location this year. It will take place in the Freizeithalle am Aasee (Hochfeldstraße 56a), in a beautiful location with plenty of outdoor space. An interesting programme with hands-on activities, pump track and test course will round off the event.

Artistic cyclist puts on a fascinating show

A highlight will be the performance by artistic cyclist David Schnabel. Schnabel is one of the best artistic cyclists in the world, with several world championship titles on his CV. He has turned his sport into an event and turned his freestyle into a show choreographed with music in the truest sense of the word "on the bike". You can be inspired as part of the RADTRENDS trade fair in the Freizeithalle am Aasee Bocholt on Sunday, 24 March at 11.00 am, 12.00 pm, 2.30 pm, 3.30 pm and 4.30 pm.

Last Call: Remaining places for exhibitors

If you want to be an exhibitor at RADTRENDS at short notice, you have to hurry. Only a few stand spaces are still available in the outdoor area. No wonder, because the topic of bicycles, with all its facets, is booming. Anyone interested can contact organiser Theurich on 02871 953-137 or email angela.theurich\(at\)bocholt\(dot\)debocholt(dot)de).
