Online seminar for women with leadership responsibility

Virtual and hybrid working - the new challenge // Wednesday, February 16, 2022, 7 p.m. // Register now

On Wednesday, February 16, 2022, there will be an online seminar aimed at women with leadership responsibilities - in departments, companies, projects or voluntary work. The speaker is Anja Schröer, a qualified businesswoman, trainer and consultant. The Equal Opportunities Office of the City of Bocholt invites you to attend. Registrations are possible immediately by E-Mail to the equalization office of the city Bocholt under E-Mail gleichstellung\(at\)bocholt\(dot\)debocholt(dot)de). Participation is free of charge.

Virtual communication has rapidly gained in importance as a result of the current situation. It is becoming apparent that a "hybrid" working life will be the path to a new future of work - with all its advantages and disadvantages. In this seminar, women will learn how they as leaders can best adapt to this situation in the long term and how they can optimally take their employees along with them on this journey.

Content

- Conveying security and trust in the virtual team
- Cause-related and development-promoting conversations from a distance
- Tips and tricks for keeping in touch in the home office
- The 5 levels of leadership - reflecting on the team level in your teams
- Leading situationally even in the home office - a home office typology

Participants will learn how to best deal with individual employees in the home office and how to manage teams virtually. Practical tips from the speaker and an exchange with other participants round off the event.

The event is part of the "Frau+Beruf" series organized by the municipal equal opportunity commissioners in the Borken district.
