On arrival of the fire brigade, a smell of burning was detected from outside. The firefighters then forced their way into the flat, as the occupants were not present. During the search, a respiratory protection team found burnt food and used a small extinguisher to fight the fire. The firefighters then used a ventilation device to remove the smoke from the flat. A total of 14 firefighters and ambulance personnel with 5 vehicles were deployed. There was only minor damage to property and no persons were injured.
