Musicians wanted for Bocholt brass band days

Rehearsal weekend from November 4 to 6 / Joint concert planned for November 12

Interested musicians can still register until Sunday for the 5th Bocholt Wind Orchestra Days. Together they will then rehearse an exciting, appealing and varied concert program, which will be performed at a benefit concert on Saturday, November 12.

The joint rehearsal workshop is to take place on the weekend of November 4 to 6, announces the organizer community from music school Bocholt-Isselburg and instrumental circle Lowick (IKL). The musical direction of the project takes Constantin Hesselmann of the IKL and Bodo Biermann of the music school Bocholt-Isselburg.

The benefit concert on November 12 will be held in aid of the peace work of the German War Graves Commission. Participation is open to wind musicians and percussionists.

Participants up to 25 years of age pay 15 euros, from 26 years of age a fee of 25 euros is charged.
