Music school

Piano4U" piano concert by the Bocholt Music School

Wednesday, 8 November, 6.30 p.m. at the Textilwerk, Drosselsaal in Bocholt // Admission free

On Wednesday, 8 November, the Bocholt-Isselburg Music School will present a piano concert "Piano4U" in the Drosselsaal of the Textilwerk, Industriestr. 5 in Bocholt. Admission from 6 pm. Admission is free.

The piano classes of the music school teachers Christina Taczyk and Beate Foremny present "Piano4U": the focus of the concert will first be on the younger piano players and those who have only been playing the piano for a short time. On this evening, they will present their selected works on a large stage together with the experienced players.

Another focus in the programme will be pieces for piano 4 hands. The programme ranges from a "Midsummer Night's Dream", "Under the Starry Sky" to Astor Piazzolla's "Libertango".

More than 20 piano players aged 6 to 17 will perform the varied piano concert. Admission is free, registration is not required.
