Holger Moschall celebrates his 40th anniversary with the city of Bocholt

The measurement assistant has been working for the Land and Soil Management since the 1980s

Holger Moschall celebrates his 40th anniversary of service with the City of Bocholt on 14 August. He entered the service of the city of Bocholt in 1982 as a "trainee" in the sewage treatment plant and after his military service he returned as a surveying assistant. Since his special examination as a surveying assistant, he has been working in department 31 as a surveying assistant.

Known for his ability to work in a team and his willingness to generously share his knowledge, Mr Moschall has contributed to the quality of our services in Bocholt. He works very precisely and in fact manages to keep prism and satellite antennas plumb with amazing precision like hardly anyone else, which greatly improves the accuracy of the measurement procedures used at the City of Bocholt and thus the qualitative performance.

Mr Moschall is hardworking and valued as a very reliable colleague. He is also always ready to help his colleagues.
