Traffic: Cycle and footpath on Uhlandstraße open again

The cycle and footpath on Uhlandstraße, directly at the Aasee Terraces, is open to traffic again. The necessary sewer construction measures, for which a partial closure of around 200 metres was required, have been completed.

The construction work was connected to the redesign of the Aasee. As is known, a café-restaurant with a wave roof is to be built on the eastern bank in the future. Construction work will soon begin on the opposite side of the road. The city of Bocholt will announce details in due time.
