Traffic: Traffic lights at station intersection fail briefly on Wednesday

Reason is defective power line // Road users are asked for special attention

The traffic lights at the intersection Thedor-Heuss-Ring / Industriestraße / Eberstraße will be temporarily out of service next Wednesday, June 15. This is pointed out by the traffic department of the city of Bocholt. The reason is damage to a power line.

In order to repair the power line, which also supplies the traffic lights, it must be disconnected. The traffic lights are then connected to a mobile generator to minimize downtime. For a short period of time, therefore, there will be a traffic light outage.

The city of Bocholt asks road users between 6 and 9 o'clock for special caution in this busy intersection. It is recommended that experienced road users avoid this area on Wednesday morning.
