

01. August 2022

Training

Mayor Thomas Kerkhoff welcomes ten junior staff members to the city administration

As of today, 1 August 2022, the Bocholt municipal administration is supported by ten motivated trainees. On Monday, they were welcomed by Mayor Thomas Kerkhoff, Peter Bölting (Head of the Department of Organisation and Personnel) and the training managers Eva Telahr and Stefanie Wilken.

"With 21 apprenticeship occupations, the Bocholt municipal administration offers a broad and very interesting range of tasks. I am pleased that you have chosen the city of Bocholt and wish you a good and successful start," says Mayor Thomas Kerkhoff.

The Department of Culture and Education is pleased to have the active support of Emma Heckers, who is training to become an event manager, and Aleyna Kalemci, who has started her training to become a specialist in media and information services (specialising in libraries).

The IT and Digital Department is supported by two junior staff members: Florian Franzen and Leandro Morotti are completing their training as IT specialists for system integration.

In the Building Management department, Leonie Nele Terörde is starting her training as a carpenter.

Anna Flores and Tom Giesing, who have started their training as administrative assistant, respectively, will be employed in various departments.

On Monday, the ESB welcomed Maya Hega, Yannik Hundt and Jonas Heuvel as prospective gardeners.

Information on the net

If you are curious about training or a career in the public service of the city of Bocholt, you can find information about the training professions at www.bocholt.de/rathaus/ausbildung/ or on Instagram stadtbocholt_karriere.

Mayor Thomas Kerkhoff (l.) welcomes the new trainees of the City of Bocholt (from left to right): Stefanie Wilken (Head of Training), Emma Heckers, Leandro Morotti, Florian Franzen, Anna Flores, Aleyna Kalemci, Tom Giesing, Leonie Nele Terörde, Eva Telahr (Head of Training).

© Stadt Bocholt